BOLD BANDITS STILL AT LARGE

No Trace to be Found of Men Who Robbed Washington Railways Office

OFFICERS SCOURING COUNTY

Although the net of the law was stretched wide the two bandits who entered the Washington office of the Pittsburg Railways company Thursday morning at an early hour and at the point of revolvers forced Charles Seibert night cashier to stand by as they took about $600 and then brutally assaulted him had not run into its meshes yet last night.

County, borough and Pittsburg Railways officers with a score or more of volunteers continued the search for the daring bandits all yesterday. Trains and street cars were watched throughout the day. Officers in automobiles sped with all possible haste in various directions in the hope that they would take up with the bold robbers but no effort bore any fruit.

CashierSeibert was confined to his bed all of Thursday as a result of the injuries he received. He was weak from the loss of blood. Three ugly wounds were inflicted by a weapon that was either a blackjack or the butt end of a revolver. Only a man with a physique as powerful as that of Cashier Seibert could have withstood such a brutal atack and still remained conscious.

A report made to the police by J. Alemmandro, in charge of the foreign department of the Washington Trust company indicates that the bandits probably planned to rob him originally. Two men that answered the description of those that performed the deed at the street car office entered Mr. D'Alessandro's office about 8 o'clock Wednesday evening. Thy asked him to cash a check for $150 but he refused saying he did not have that much money and besides that he would not cash a check at that hour of the day.

Oneofthe men remained at the door throughout this conversation But they were interrupted by three Italians who came in the office and left without any further ado.

While some advance the theory that the men after fleeing when Cashier Seibert opened fire upon them, leaped in a waiting automobile at the corner of Lincoln street and Pine avenue and were quickly driven away in the darkness officers generally learn to the view that the two bandits made their escape by foot.

Officers that worked on the case say that the men were trailed beyond Lincoln street to Penn street and that the last trace of them was found there a woman having seen the men leap through a fence.

It is thought by many that the bandits made their way across to Manifold or some other mining settlement in the Chartiers valley and are probably in hiding there.

Members of the Washington police force were at the street car office a few minutes after the robbery occurred, being summoned by the electric buzzer call for help sent by Cashier Seibert. Sheriff R. G. Lutton, Deputy Sheriffs Byron Knestrick and George S. Hornbake. County Detective Frank Mitchell and Assistant District Attorney T. H. W. Fergus and Detective Swan of the Pittsburg Railways company arrived a few minutes later. A general search was then commenced. Warning was sent broadcast by telephone to officers in all sections to be on the lookout for the bandits.

A freight that was eastbound was boarded by County Detective Mitchell and Deputy Hornbake at Brady tunnel and searched. Another car in which was Detective Swan and a party sped out the National pike toward Beallsville. Another machine with officers hurried through to Monongahela. Others whizzed about the streets on the eastern side of Washington and on the outskirts but none was abole to secure a trace of the men.

1916 CHAUTAUQUA FOR CHARLEROI CONSIDERED

Redpath-Brockway Representative Learning Sentiment—New Contract Proposed.

Whether or not Charleroi will have a summer Chautauqua in 1916 depends largely upon what transpires within the next few days. John F. Chambers a wideawake representative of the Redpath Brockway Lyceum Bureau and himself a platform man, has been here the last two days ascertaining the sentiment for a Chautauqua. He has found favorable sentiment for a Chautauqua held under slightly different arrangements from those of this summer It is possible he may interest the Free Library Association in the movement under a new contract.

Next year the Redpath Brockway bureau proposes to present a program equally as good as this year and to strengthen if possible the managerial end of the work. Closer attention will be given to preliminary organization.

WEATHER CAUSE OF SUSPENSION

Schools Closed Down Part Of Thursday Afternoon Because of Warmth

YOUNGER CHILDREN SUFFER

With the mercury hovering close to the century mark it was found necesary for the peace of mind of those concerned to close down the schools early on Thursday afternoon and the same policy will be followed in days to come in the event of excessive heat.

Though it is not stated records were broken by Thursday's weather, the heat was excessive and suffering was apparent. Especially in the lower grades of school where this year children are enduring the confinement of school for the first time did the warmth seem oppressive.

The temperature taken at the government yards at North Charleroi Thursday was 92 at 12 o'clock. Word from there was that no records were broken.

CRUSHED IN COAL MINE FREDERICKTOWN MAN HELD

Friends of Well Known Man Tell He Is Getting Along Well and Ride Home on Same Train With Body.

Crushed by a fall of slate Wednesday in the Vesta No. 5 mine at Fredericktown, John Coulter a well known Scotch miner, died later at the Memorial hospital at Monongahela. Coulter was taken out stumps of a rib section when the untimely crash came and he was unable to reach safety. He was given first aid treatment and then rushed by automobile late in the afternoon to Monongahela. Friends of his who took him there came to Charleroi to board an evening train for home. They said he was getting along all right. Getting on the train they were surprised to find his dead body was being taken back.

POLICEMEN REQUIRED TO GO TO COLLEGE

Policemen of Berkley, California, are required to attend the University of California, it has been announced. This it is believed is the first time any city in the world has made preparation to have a "college-bred police department."

This course of study is in the relation of mental diseases to crimionology. The theory is that the policemen will be enabled to "size up" a man arrested for a crime and ascertain what other crimes he might have committed.

COLDS AND HAY FEVER PREVALENT

Sufferers From Peculiar Malady Are Numerous in This Region

IMMUNITY IN OTHER CLIMES

Watery eyes, effervescent voice, the general appearance of a downcast martyr, with other accompaniments too numerous to mention characterize the sufferer these days from an ordinary cold or hay fever. An epidemic is prevalent and sufferers are many.

Numbers are unobtainable but probably every other person has some sort of cold. There is much similarity in the sort, except in the degree of severity. Hay fever victims are the worst off of the lot. One of the usual accompaniments of the ordinary cold is a sore throat. Vocal organs do not work naturally and the kind of voice the worst sufferers have is a cross between a wheeze and a gurgle.

Hay fever this fall seems exceedingly severe here and several recruits are being listed in the hay fever colony. The pollens from which the disease is said to originate apparently are more numerous, or something—anyhow there is a good reason. Immunity is only to be found in other climes. Rev. E. N. Duty pastor of the First Christian church found immunity at Block Island in Long Island sound but upon his return Thursday evening at once became the worst kind of sufferer.

AN IMPERATIVE DUTY

The obligation resting on every voter to go to the primaries and vote can not be too strongly insisted upon. Whether the right of suffrage is a natural right or a granted privilege may be open to question, but there is no question as to the duty of voters to exercise it, says the Washington Observer.

None can say he has no personal interest as to who may be chosen for office. The very fact of his citizenship makes him a responsible agent in the choice of all officers who are named by ballot. The citizen who neglects to vote is little better than the soldier who skulks in the rear.

Aside from the general considerations referred to there are particular reasons why the will of the people as nearly as it may be expressed at the ballot box demands a full vote. With the exception of one county commissioner all county officers, to a reasonable certainty, will be named at the primaries.

The preponderance of the Republican vote including all but a negligible number of former Progressive insures such a result. The choice will be made at the primaries: the vote in November will be merely a ratification of the result of the primary. The manner in which judges are now elected furnishes further reason why there should be a full turnout of voters at the primary.

Members of the state and local benches are no longer elected on party tickets and the judicial candidate, if there be such, who can command 51 per cent of the voters cast does not need to make a further contest at the general election.

It is only just that this is so. The judicial ballot voted at the November election is of precisely the same form as that voted at the primaries with the single exception that the names of the two highest candidates at the primary only appear on it. A voter may exercise his choice collectively at the fall election by making a cross at the head of his party ticket, but that cross does not count for any judicial candidate state or local.

For these every voter must express his choice individually. Each judicial candidate is entitled to every vote he can command at the primary and his friends should see to it that he gets them.

Under the present law "primary" is a fitting designation for the September nominating election so far as Washington county is concerned, for in deterining final results the election of November takes second place.

Large transportation companies and big business concerns are realizing now more than ever the need of having well trained men in their employ and are adopting sure means of getting them. For instance the Pennsylvania Railroad has established a school of telegraph at Bedford, where it proposes to educate young men to become railroad telegraph or telephone operators. Having educated them it proposes to give them jobs, knowing perfectly well they will be fitted for their work. Such a movement as this is surely a good one and should be encouraged. Too many young men are forced to enter employment they do not like and for which they are unfitted by lack of efficient education. But here is an avenue of advancement that is almost free, with a job in the bargain. The railroad is maintaining its school of course to train its men, but it too is offering an opportunity that undoubtedly will be taken advantage of eagerly, as it ought to be.

The real burglary is the work of [illegible] almost in the shadow of the [illegible] and only [illegible] caught the robber a block [illegible] the scene of his success. A burglar [illegible] without [illegible] by a successful holiday.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

Roy K. Moulton writes the following modern fable:

A certain beautiful damsel was wooed by two young men, one of whom had inherited a million dollars, while the other had nothing beyond his salary of $18 a week. She loved the poor young man best, but said he could not think of marrying him until he could support her in the style to which she had determined to become accustomed.

So the poor young man decided to accumulate a million. It was hard work and it took him nearly six months to do it but he did.

Now, when he went to lay his fortune and his heart at the feet of the fair one, he found she had grown tired of waiting and had married the other suitor—the one who had inherited his million from a rich but not too honest father.

Nothing daunted, our brave hero immediately went out and accumulated another million.

Deeply touched by this proof of his undying devotion, the lady took the train for Reno and got a divorce from her husband, whose million was nearly gone, anyhow. Then she came back and married her first love and they lived happily ever after.

Moral: Modern conveniences are great stuff.

"Harry," said the teacher to a pupil in the juvenile class, "how would you divide six apples among seven boys so each would get an equal share?"

"I'd make them into apple sauce," replied the bright youngster.

Our Own Fables.

Once upon a Time a Wise Guy decided that he would quit playing the Ponies. So, when the Meeting opened he kept away from the Track. But to Ease Off from the Habit, he picked out seven Horses, one in each Race, and bet himself Ten Bucks on each Nag to Win. And when he picked up the Dope Sheet the next morning every one of his Selections had a Ring around it. He had picked seven straight Winners, and a Ten Dollar Parlay would have netted him just $987,654,325,867,000. So the Wise Guy patted himself on the Back and said: "I'm getting good. I am Mr. Piker from Pikersville." So his Success brought the Yen for the Ponies on again, and the Wise Guy picked seven more Winners and went over to the Track and played his Seven Selections right on the Nose. And every one of the seven Also Ran.

Sick Women Attention

Is it possible there is a woman in this country who continues to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, which proves beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other one medicine in the world?

We have published in the newspapers of the United States more genuine testimonial letters than have ever been published in the interest of any other medicine for women—and every year we publish many new testimonials, all genuine and true. Here are three never before published:

From Mrs. S. T. Richmond, Providence, R. I.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—"For the benefit of women who suffer as I have done I wish to state what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I did some heavy lifting and the doctor said it caused a displacement. I have always been weak and I overworked after my baby was born and inflammation set in, then nervous prostration, from which I did not recover until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The Compound is my best friend and when I hear of a woman with troubles like mine I try to induce her to take your medicine."—Mrs. S. T. RICHMOND, 84 Progress Avenue, Providence, R.I.

From Mrs. Maria Irwin, Peru, N.Y.

PERU, N.Y.—"Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was very irregular and had much pain. I had lost three children, and felt worn out all the time. This splendid medicine helped me as nothing else had done, and I am thankful every day that I took it."—Mrs. MARIA IRWIN, R.F.D. 1, Peru, N.Y.

From Mrs. Jane D. Duncan, W. Quincy, Mass.

SOUTH QUINCY, MASS.—"The doctor said that I had organic trouble and he doctored me for a long time and I did not get any relief. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and I tried it and found relief before I had finished the first bottle. I continued taking it all through middle life and am now a strong, healthy woman and earn my own living."—Mrs. JANE D. DUNCAN, Forest Avenue, West Quincy, Mass.

McCreery

Wood at Sixth, Pittsburgh.

Eleventh Anniversary Sales

Monday, September 13 to Saturday, September 20 (Inclusive)

THE climax of eleven years of value-giving in high-grade merchandise will be reached in the McCreery Eleventh Anniversary Sales.

Selections and prices secured by the McCreery corps of buyers show they have outdone all previous efforts in stretching every point of their own experience and the manufacturers' concessions for this yearly occasion.

You get a three-fold reduction: The manufacturers', in consideration of our purchases throughout the year; reduced selling cost due to the volume of business in a short period; and minimizing or disregard of profits because we want to observe the Store's birthday fittingly.

This is the best possible occasion to get acquainted with McCreery's—or to renew an old acquaintance—when the best merchandise in Pittsburgh is offered you each day so that you may provide for Fall and Winter while prices are the lowest of the year.

Important

CUSTOMERS ordering by letter will get better choice by having their orders in the Mail Order Department as early as possible. These will be filled in the order of their arrival.

No Anniversary merchandise will be sent on approval, or accepted for credit or exchange.

Freight or express will be prepaid on all cash or charge orders to any point within five hundred miles. Freight or express charges will be added to C. O. D. orders.

Shop early, for the best choice—and often, so as not to miss any of the multitude of Anniversary offerings.

RECIPE FOR DUTCH CHEESE

One of the Best Methods of Disposing of Sour Milk—Kept Dry, It Will Improve With Age.

Dutch cheese can be made from sour milk. When solid and thick the milk should be put in an agate basin or pan over a slow, gentle heat, and allowed to become scalding hot but never to boil; boiling turns the curd to a tough leathery consistence and renders it indigestible. A clean finger is the best thermometer; as the curd forms in the center of the pan and the water recedes to the edges seperate the curd carefully with the finger so that the heat will be evenly distributed through it, but do not break it up too much.

When the water or whey becomes scalding hot remove the pan from the fire, pour the contents into a cheese-cloth bag and hang it up to drain. When it has stopped dripping turn the cheese into a bowl, add salt, a generous dash of cayenne pepper, and enough sour cream to thin it so that it may be made into balls. Keep it in a dry place where it will not mold and it will improve with age. When it becomes dry moisten it again with sour cream or the sour cream dressing. Skim all the cream off the milk before putting it in the pan, as the cream melts in the hot whey and is lost.

Cayenne pepper adds largely to the toothsomeness as well as the digestibility of cheeses made from cream or milk. It is a good stomach tonic in hot weather.

Had Lung Trouble and Expected to Die

The many recoveries brought about by Eckman's Alterative are attracting wide attention. Read about this case:—

22 B St., Keyser, W. Va.

"Gentlemen:—I was taken sick in November, 1906. I grew steadily worse. Had two consultations. The verdict was the fever had affected my lungs and that my case was hopeless; only gave me two months to live. My physician had tried most all kinds of treatment and none did me any good, so he asked my husband if he objected to him trying a proprietary medicine. I began your Alterative. I was in bed from November 30, 1906, until February 25, 1909, and was thought dying several times. Today I am healthier and stronger than ever." (Abbreviated.)

(Signed) MRS. H. K. BRILEY.

Eckman's Alterative is most efficacious in bronchial catarrh and severe throat and lung affections and up-building the system. Contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs. Accept no substitutes. Small size, $1; regular size, $2. Sold by leading druggists. Write for booklet of recoveries.
